

THE RYAN GENEALOGY

Recently Updated on 18 December 2025

Ryan is among the seven most numerous surnames in Ireland. Only a very small proportion of these use the prefix O. These are the Ryan's of Carlow and they are O'Riain, not O'Mulriain, though both are of the race of Cathaoir Mor, King of Leinster in the second century.

The sept of O'Mulriain was located in Owney, formerly called Owney O'Mulryan, which forms the modern baronies of the borders of Limerick and Tipperary. The O'Mulryans came into this area in the eleventh century and became powerful.

The Ryan's did not produce any really outstanding figures in Irish History or Literature except the romantic Edmond Ryan known as "Ned of the Hill" (c1680-1724), a Gaelic poet, gentleman, soldier and finally rapparee, beloved of the people, though he met his death through the treachery of one of them. Two abbeys called Ryan were executed during the French Revolution.

Many Ryan's have distinguished themselves in the United States, Father Abram Joseph Ryan 1838-1886, was poet of the Confederates during the Civil War. Patrick John Ryan, a Tipperary man (1825-1911) was Archbishop of Philadelphia, and Stephen V. Ryan (1825-1896) from Clare was bishop of Buffalo.

DEPARTURE FOR AMERICA ELGIN, ILLINOIS

Sister's research was unable to determine the date of the Ryan's departure from Ireland, but it was likely in the late 1840's, as the 1850 Illinois Census lists John Ryan and his wife, M. Bridget, as residents of Elgin, Illinois (Kane Co.). At that time, John D. Ryan's brother James D. Ryan's son Matthew Ryan, was also living with them. During the years they lived in Elgin their children Michael, John and Ellen were born. Margaret was born after they settled at St. Patrick in Cedar Township, Minnesota.

DEPARTURE FOR ST. PATRICK, MINNESOTA

It was on May 2, 1856 that the Ryan's, Campion's and no doubt other Irish families left Elgin to travel to Minnesota to take up homesteads. The travel was by oxcart through Wisconsin to Prairie du Chien and north through Dakota County along the Cannon River Road. A memorandum of travel on that road for one day in 1856 reads: "... double teams 149; single buggies 14, stages 2; yokes of cattle 14." John R.

Ryan often told how The Ryan's brought with them a white mare and a stallion when they settled in Section 8 founding the Ryan homestead.⁷

Cedar Lake Township took its name from the lake on its western border where groves of red cedar trees grew along its shores. Small cedar seedlings were often transplanted from Cedar Lake shores to the newly settled homesteads by the pioneer women. Bridget Ryan had carried several of the cedar seedlings to the Ryan homestead where they grew until the early thirties of this century.

Like most of the Cedar Lake, Spring Lake and Helena Townships' settlers, the Ryan's and Garry's were natives of the western counties of Ireland. The Garry's had immigrated from Galway and Mayo and the Ryan's from Limerick. Before they homesteaded in Minnesota the Garry's had lived in Essex, Co., New York, near Lake Champlain and as mentioned earlier the Ryan's were residents of Elgin, Illinois. A study of the Minnesota Census of 1860 and 1870 show that the first children of the families are often listed as born in Canada, New York, Ohio or Illinois.

One year earlier, 1855, Cedar Lake's first white settlers had arrived. The earliest recorded white settler was "Thomas O'Donnell, a plucky little Irishman, who seemed to have no dread of the local Indian community, as they had a large established village on his claim." The account states that Mr. O'Donnell had counted fifty bark tepees, supposed to be constructed for permanent occupation. This former Indian village known as Tepee Hill was on the site of present Saint Patrick's Church.

In his book, Minnesota Handbook 1856-57, Mr. Parker related his experience of a trip from Iowa to St. Paul and his visits to various towns of that era. His account mentioned a visit to Shakopee Indian Village that then had a population of eight hundred. The Wasson Hotel was about to be constructed. Other Scott County towns visited by Mr. Parker were: Belle Plaine, Louisville, Jordan City, Mount Pleasant, Long Lake and Belle Fontaine (Spring Lake).

From its very beginning, the spiritual needs of the Cedar Lake community were ministered by the Benedictine Missionaries. Mass and other services were conducted in the homes. One of these homes belonged to Thomas Quille. In 1859 the people of the parish completed a log church, 40' x 26'. The officiating pastor was Father Peter Naly (O'Nally). Eleven years later, 1870, a sanctuary of sandstone was built onto the east end of the log structure. By 1874 the construction of the present stone edifice, 90' x 41' x 26', was completed (in the space of four months!) and replaced the log church. The parishioners had hauled the sandstone from the Jordan quarry, a distance of about eleven miles. Because of the lack of roads and the slow pace of oxen, the travel was difficult and slow. During the summer, the trips to the quarry were made mainly at night to avoid the intense heat of the day. In the midst of the heavy labor, there was time out for a test of strength and John R. Ryan became the owner of a jug of whiskey for lifting the heaviest stone laid in the construction of the church.

Church of St. Patrick illustrated by Al Teoli

At a total cost of $5,760.36 the church was completed and was dedicated by the Most Reverend Thomas L. Grace, O.P., Bishop of St. Paul. The cornerstone was laid in November 1873, and the dedication took place October 11, 1874. The pastor of St. Patrick's Church at this time was Father C. J. Knauff.

St. Patrick's church was the focal point in the lives of the people as a place of worship and for the reception of the Sacraments as well as the center of their social lives. It was to this same St. Patrick's Church that six hundred and fifty of us returned July 1, 1979 to pay tribute to the memory of our ancestors. The date was of special significance as it marked the 100th anniversary of the marriage of Julia Garry and John R. Ryan, sister's paternal grandparents or my great grandparents.

IMMIGRANT ANCESTORS

JOHN DARBY RYAN and MARY BRIDGET RYAN

Our Ryan ancestors John Darby Ryan and Mary Bridget Ryan (maiden name also Ryan) first arrived in Elgin, Kane County, Illinois and are listed in the 1850 Census there. Matthew Ryan, John's brother James Darby Ryan's son, a carpenter, is listed as living with them. Three of the Ryan children were born in Elgin, Illinois: Michael, John and Ellen. In 1856, the Ryans came to Minnesota and settled in Section 8 of Cedar Lake Township, Scott County. Their fourth child, Margaret was born at Cedar Lake in 1863. The next four chapters are the four children and their descendants. John D. Ryan died 18 April 1870 and was buried in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Cedar Lake, Minnesota.

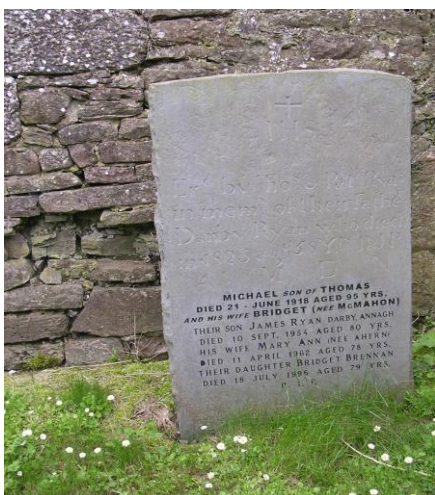

JOHN DARBY RYAN, our immigrant ancestor was born at County Limerick, Ireland 4 January 1814 at Pallasgreen and Templebredin, County Limerick, Ireland. The Church in Murroe, Ireland recorded his marriage to Mary Bridget Ryan as taken place there 1 February 1831. The tax rolls of 1827 for that parish list John Darby Ryan as well as his brother James Darby Ryan, who rented property in the Annagh section near Murroe.

Recent discovery has shown that John Darby Ryan's parents were James Ryan and Mary Ryan (maiden name also Ryan). Their four children were James Darby Ryan, John Darby Ryan, Catherine Ryan and Mary Ryan.

James Ryan's parents were Patrick Ryan and Catherine Ryan. Additional ancestral information is shown on the tree and in the "Newly Discovered Ancestors" tab.

Mary Ryan is the daughter of Jeremiah "Darby" Ryan and Eleanor Kelly. Darby and Eleanor were also the parents of Thomas and Patrick Ryan. The tombstone of Darby Ryan is located in the Annagh Cemetery within the ruins of the original Annagh Church, which may date back to the fourteenth century. The inscription of Darby Ryan's tombstone reads "Erected by Thomas and Patrick Ryan in memory of their father, Darby Ryan who died in 1826 age 58 years. R.I.P. AMEN". Thomas and Patrick are the brothers of Mary Ryan (mother of James, John, Catherine and Mary Ryan).

In the United States we find John and Bridget Ryan listed on the 1850 Census for Elgin, Illinois (Kane County). Matthew Ryan, John Darby Ryan's son, a carpenter, is listed as living with them. Three of the Ryan children were born in Elgin, Illinois: Michael, John and Ellen. In 1856, the Ryans came to Minnesota and settled in Section 8 of Cedar Lake Township, Scott County. Their fourth child, Margaret was born at Cedar Lake in 1863. The next four chapters are the four children and their descendants. John D. Ryan died 18 April 1870 and was buried in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Cedar Lake, Minnesota.

Mary Bridget Ryan

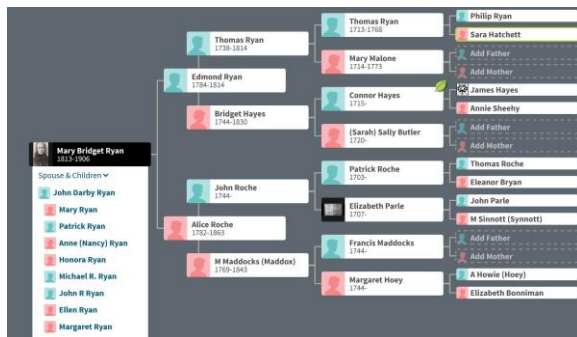

MARY BRIDGET RYAN, whose maiden name was also Ryan was born in County Limerick, Ireland 22 December 1813. Recent discovery has shown her parents were Edmond Ryan and Alice Roche Ryan.

After the death of her husband John D. Ryan, she and her sons farmed the homestead. Michael married in 1873 and John in 1879. After John's marriage M. Bridget continued to reside with John and his family. Michael and his family moved to their farm near Lake Cynthia. Mary Bridget or Maa, as she was called died 16 August 1906 after an illness of about four months. At the time of her death, she was one of the oldest persons in Scott County and the earliest settler in the township. Her funeral took place at St. Patrick's Church, Monday 19 August 1906. Father Pomjie sang the High Mass and preached an “eloquent sermon” Burial was in St. Patrick’s Cemetery next to her husband, John D. Ryan.

Her parents, Edmond Ryan and Alice Roche were also the parents of Bridget, Mary Anne, Honora, Mary Bridget, Thomas and Lucinda Ryan.

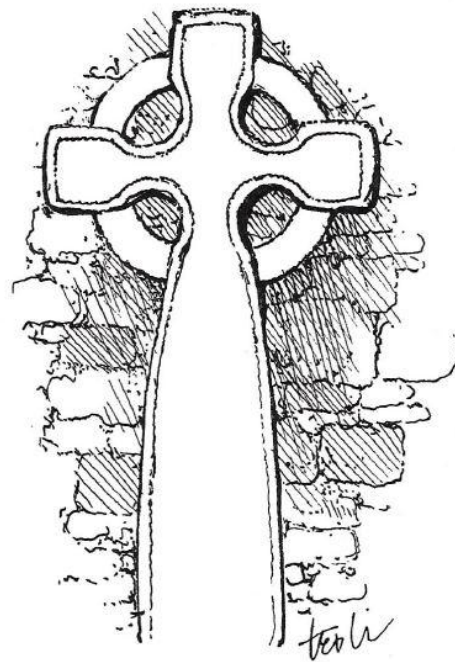

Much discovery tracing back numerous generations has been made about Mary Bridget Ryan’s ancestors with some noted in the following tree as well as in the “Newly Discovered Ancestors” tab.

Recent discovery has shown that John Darby and Mary Bridget Ryan had four children born in Ireland prior to immigrating to America. These four children were: Mary, Patrick, Anne (Nancy) and Honora. We have found birth/baptism certificate for all four. We assume that Mary, Patrick and Honora died as a result of the potato famine as an explanation of why they didn’t immigrate along with their parents. We have discovered some information about Anne (Nancy) and her descendants in Ireland. A possible explanation for her staying in Ireland was she stayed to attend to her grandparents with future plans to join her parents in America.
