

THE GARRY GENEALOGY

Updated on 18 December 2025

McGarry or Garry

The ancient Gaelic family name, which is now most commonly found in English as McGarry was MacFheardhaigh, meaning the son of Fearadhac. "Fearadhac" in Irish means "manly". It was a sobriquet given to an ancient chieftain and from him passed on to his immediate descendants till in the 12th century it came to be used as the family name.

Tradition traces the family tree back to Brian, the half-brother of the famous warrior King Nial of the Nine Hostages who brought St. Patrick as a slave boy to Ireland. This Brian became King of Connacht and from him are descended many of the dynastic families of the province, among them the McGarry's.

The destruction of records that took place when many monasteries were sacked by the Danes and Vikings makes it difficult to trace the early history of the family. The fact that we find the name associated closely to County Tyrone and County Antrim indicates that septs of the clan at an early date settled in these areas. However, the patrimony of the main stem of the family was located in Hy Briuin territory in County Mayo, where the name is still relatively numerous.

The stormy century that followed the coming of the Normans to Ireland brought widespread dispersal of members of the family through other parts of Connacht, Ulster and the midlands. The variations in the dialect of Gaelic spoken in these different districts has been responsible for many anglicized versions of the name found in the registers. The commonest of these variants are: Garry, McKerry, McAree, McKeary, McHarry, Maharry, Garahy, Garrihy, O'Garriga and some others.

The motto is one of those typically Gaelic delineations of the characteristics of the clan which is not easy to render completely in English. "Diamonds in the Rough" might be the nearest equivalent at the present day. The word "garbh" which means unpolished, has the connotation of "unsophisticated", "plain and blunt", as well as rugged and sterling in character.

HOW THEY GOT ACROSS THE OCEAN

Catholic Irish and tossed into the wastebasket by an unsympathetic British Ministry. The Irish disposition to anarchic individualism warred against systematic group colonization.

Despite the casual disarray of the Catholic Irish emigration, it contained within it a deep foundation of order, even logic, in accordance with the traditional Irish pattern. The individual Irishman was tied by inflexible bonds to the complex and intricate family relationships extending beyond immediate consanguinity which imposed duties and responsibilities that could be avoided only by his own shame and the censure of an opinion he respected. His responses to these family obligations were almost instinctive, above rationality to be honored by the call of blood to blood.

So, it can be said of Catholic Irish emigration that while as a physical fact it was individual, one by one or two by two, the addition ultimately made a family emigration to America. Behind the young Irish farm laborer or servant maid who set off alone for America was a waiting family, and behind them the friends.

A letter from a poor railroad worker in Peekskill, New York to his family in Ireland holds its simple power more than a century later and sums up in unlettered articulateness the heart of Catholic Irish emigration.

IMMIGRANT ANCESTORS

JAMES GARRY AND SABINA QUINN

JAMES GARRY, was born in Kilmaine, County Mayo, Ireland about 1813. As a young man he married Sabina Quinn from the neighboring County, Galway. Sometime in 1844 they left their native land and immigrated to America. At the time of their departure for America they had an infant daughter (named Catherine or Mary). Their child became ill and died during the voyage. The sorrowful experience of her death and burial at sea was a story that has been etched deeply on the memories of all the descendants. When James and Sabina reached America, they lived for a short time in Canada, probably around Quebec. From Canada they moved to Upstate New York and settled in Essex County near Lake Champlain, where they purchased land. In the 1850 Census they are listed as residents of Essex County, New York. James was employed as a stone mason there.

From information gathered in searching State Census and death records, it is apparent that members of the Hyland's, Golden's and Quinn's, as well as the Garry's, had settled in Essex County, New York before coming to Minnesota. "Julia Hyland, daughter of Patrick and Bridget Quinn Hyland was born in Essex County, New York in 1855. Mary Ann Golden, daughter of Richard and Mary Hyland Golden was born in Essex County, New York in 1856". Four members of the James Garry Family were born in Essex County between 1850-1856: John, Hannah, Julia and Frank.

Another sorrow was to be theirs when their eldest son, John suddenly died in 1866, while attending school in St. Paul, Minnesota. He died 27 May 1866. One of the colorful stories we've heard related is about the smoking habit of Sabina Quinn Garry or Sibby as her husband called her. After the death of John, the sorrow of the mother, Sibby, was most profound and to ease the pain James encouraged her to take a few puffs of his clay pipe saying, "It will comfort you". The pipe smoking habit was firmly established and Sibby smoked to the end of her days in 1916. The family fearful that she may set fire to the feather bed, asked the parish priest to encourage her not to smoke in bed. Father at the time of his visit on First Friday always made the stop at Garry's his last for the morning and would have breakfast with Sibby. Father very tactfully related how he had read of the death of an elderly man in the East who had set fire to his bed and died as a result. After listening attentively, Sibby's reply was "Faith, Father I didn't think you told lies."

Many other stories relative to their days in Cedar Lake reflect the kind hospitality and strong family ties of the Garry's.

James Garry died 22 December 1885 as he was returning from a visit to his son's farm a short distance away (40 rods). His funeral was held on Christmas Day, 1885 at St. Patrick's Church. "He was beloved by all who knew him and the funeral was very largely attended." Burial was in St. Patrick's Cemetery at Cedar Lake.

SABINA QUINN GARRY was born in County Galway, presumably in Ballinloe, on 11 December 1820 where she grew to womanhood and married James Garry. After the death of her husband in 1885 she made her home with her son, Thomas, and his family. She frequently visited the other son and daughters and many more stories are told about the visits. Sabina Quinn Garry was the oldest person in the County at the time of her death. She died 11 January 1916 at Helena Township. The funeral Mass was at St. Patrick's Church on 13 January 1917 and burial was at St. Patrick's Cemetery. Father Vanden Bosch celebrated the Mass and Father Lee preached the sermon.

BABY GIRL GARRY

G-1

BABY GIRL GARRY was born to James and Sabina Quinn Garry in Galway, Ireland. They left Ireland with their infant daughter in 1842 and while enroute to America the child became ill and died. At the time it was mandatory that any person died aboard a ship be buried at sea. The story handed down by our grandparents is that they were but a few days from land and they begged to wait and bury the body when they reached shore, but to no avail and sorrowfully the burial took place at sea. The name of the baby was either Mary or Catherine. Both names have been attributed to her.

JOHN M. GARRY

G-2

JOHN M. GARRY, son of James and Sabina Quinn Garry, was born in Essex County, New York in September 1850. He came to Minnesota with his parents and two younger sisters and brother in 1858. SABINA GARRY SISTER STANISLAUS

G-6

SABINA GARRY, daughter of James and Sabina Quinn Garry was born at Helena Township, Scott County, Minnesota on 31 August 1858. She attended the local schools; she entered the Convent of the Visitation in St. Paul and made her profession on 31 August 1885 as Sister Stanislaus. For the next 68 years, Visitation was a family focal point for the Garry-Ryan relatives and her name, Sister Stanislaus, became a household name held in love.

Perhaps the story of her life is best told by her sisters at Visitation. So, I quote from the community letter written by them on September 30, 1953, three days after her death.

"After sixty-eight years of religious life in the rank of Associate Sister, our loved Sister Mary Stanislaus Garry returned quietly and peacefully to her Creator on September twenty seventh at nine thirty-five p.m. Since it was Sunday, Sister was surrounded all day by loving and fervent prayers. It was only during the last few days that her feeble hands were unable to make the sign of the cross and her frail fingers could no longer hold her rosary, though the prayers were on her lips.

Till the day of her death at ninety-five years of age, Sister Mary Stanislaus retained her native sparkle and wit. Just recently Sister inquired about the health of a Sister who was visiting her. "Oh, I am able to be about and take little nourishment," she was told. Sister Mary Stanislaus looked at her a moment and replied, "Well, you'd be dead if you didn't."

Although sister has been on the infirmary floor for many years, she has always remained a very vital part of the community life. From her high-backed chair at recreation it was her delight to give arriving Sisters at playful poke with her cane. We shall sorely miss her tapping in and out of the tribune where she spent many hours of each day in prayer – sometimes very audible.

This last year Sister has been brought down to Communion in a wheel chair, but only within the last few weeks has she missed her morning meditation and Holy Mass.

For many years Sister served the community as portress and infirmarian. What the early poverty of the community could not grant her for her patients, she made up for by loving and cheerful service.

Sister was anointed several weeks ago and was grievously disappointed that the Lord did not come for her at once. Recently she asked the doctor if she were dying. When he answered, "Yes, Sister, you are dying" she replied, "Well, I won't be seeing you again then." The long years of loving care lavished on Sister Mary Stanislaus by our devoted infirmarian were frequently brightened by her blunt and witty sallies.

Sabina Garry came from a comfortable country home in Minnesota, and the poverty of the religious life was hard for her to understand. But she could always forget her material wants and miseries by drawing on a remarkable memory which filled with the loveliest in prayer and poetry. Even in her last days she would pore over her treasured books with a large magnifying glass, reading and rereading familiar passages. With the death of Sister Mary Stanislaus many links with the past our broken, for Sister was the oldest in our community. But we do not regret her going, for she herself longed intensely to be with her friends in Calvary Cemetery. Just a few days before her death she called for Our Honored Mother and gave orders that the last grave in Calvary was to be hers and no one else's. The rest of us might go to Resurrection, but she would be in that section which holds the mortal remains of those who have died since the foundation in St. Paul.

Sister is survived by one brother and many nieces and nephews, grandnieces and grandnephews, all of whom were devoted to her. Never a birthday passed that she did not receive an enormous and elaborately decorated cake and flowers. It was her joy to summon her little grand-nieces from their play in the parlor, line them up outside the grate, and flourishing her cane, peer at them through her dark glasses while they stared mute and wide eyed.

Sister's funeral mass was at the Convent of the Visitation in St. Paul and burial was in Calvary Cemetery.
